

What are the Zoning laws for keeping horses in Carlisle?

On a legal two acre lot or four acre pork chop lot a couples of horses are permissible without a special permit.

To give riding lessons or board other people's horses requires a special permit from the Zoning Board of Appeals.

It is advisable to contact neighbors before erecting a barn or fence. A fence should be secure enough to prevent escapes. A building permit is required for the construction of a barn. Manure should not be piled on the property line near a neighboring house.
